4. ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES

Advantage

Not only motivate a person to get to know you more or want to work with you, but also it can strengthen the relationship between you and the group that you invited. It's a simple way to help you maintain your friendship and people that you would like to get to know them.

Disadvantages

Just as there are advantages to using online wedding invitations, there are a few main disadvantages as well. While these are not drastic setbacks, they mean that you have to send a paper invitation to a few select guests.

5. Application

Invitation systems for websites are usually temporary. They are typically used for services in private beta testing, in order to control the number of users on the service. In other cases, they can be used due to limited availability of server resources. There are a growing number of sites which use invitation systems on a permanent basis to create exclusivity and to control quality of user-generated content.[1] Rarely, they may be used on a permanent basis in order to aggregate social network statistics . They are sometimes used to avoid abusive types or spammers, by relying on mutual trust between all members.

6.CONCLUSION

The closing of the invitation letter thank you for your consideration. We sincerely hope that you will accept our invitation, and we look forward to your presence.

A invitation to offer becomes a contract only when the seller extends an offer to the buyer. The key distinction lines in the term invitation.
